Celebrations of art in all its forms.

David Krut Projects (DKP) has various gallery and arts-based activities, with locations on the Parkwood Arts Strip and at Arts on Main in the inner city. The gallery, bookstore, book publishing, framing and education facilities have expanded to provide a collaborative arts facility at THE BLUE HOUSE at 151 Jan Smuts Avenue, Parkwood. The longevity of the activities is reflected in ongoing presentations, including works made by William Kentridge over the last 27 years, which can be seen at THE BLUE HOUSE. Kind of Blue is the next group exhibition opening on Saturday 16 November at 142 Jan Smuts Avenue.

The David Krut Workshop (DKW) collaborates on fine art editions and unique works on paper with a range of local and international artists, both established and emerging. The galleries' exhibition programmes promote works produced at DKW as well as works by associated painters and sculptors.

SANDTON CENTRAL MANAGEMENT

Top visited tourist destination.

Popular for both business and leisure travel, Sandton Central is a world-class city and a cosmopolitan centre of commerce, culture and lifestyle. From cafés to craft beer, health clubs to hotels, shopping to spas, relaxing to restaurants, networking to nightlife - it's all in Sandton Central. Here you'll find the iconic Nelson Mandela Square, Sandton City mega-mall, Africa's tallest building - The Leonardo, the US Consulate General, gorgeous urban art, beautiful public parks and more within the safe, clean, well-managed environment.

A leading hospitality and conferencing venue, Sandton Central has a wide selection of hotel, BnB and other accommodation to match every budget and occasion.

South Africa's and sub-Saharan Africa's most important business node, Sandton Central is home to the Johannesburg Stock Exchange (JSE) and many of its listed companies as well as multinational businesses. The major banking district has many automatic bank machines, forex and in-branch bank services.

It's a short 15-minutes train ride from O R Tambo International Airport to Sandton Central on the high-speed Gautrain. Sandton Gautrain Station is a public transport hub for hotel shuttles, bus, taxi, ride-share and even tuk-tuk services. Sandton Central leads South Africa in eco-mobility.

A warm and friendly welcome awaits you at the Joburg Tourism Visitor Information Centre, on the Sandton Gautrain Station entrance piazza (corner Rivonia Road and West Street) where most tourists arrive in the city (open 8am to 5pm weekdays and 7pm to 6am every night). Here you'll find everything you need to know about visiting Sandton Central, including maps and information about points of interest, sight-seeing, events and how to get around.

Tribal doll wholesaler.

Umquele we Afrika was started by Joanne Horwitz when she returned to South Africa after having lived in London for six years. "I was seeking something to be involved in that would be fulfilling. So I reacquainted myself with some of the Ladies hand-making tribal dolls that I had met before initially leaving South Africa.

From that meeting a group was formed under the name of Afrika Krafsts. We traded successfully for ten years at the Rosebank Sunday Market. We grew our support base over the years and had many repeat customers. Unfortunately, the market subsequently stopped trading and we have had to find another way to get our tribal dolls to market.

Our group's name was changed six years ago, when we registered as an NPC to: Umquele we Afrika which means "Crown of Africa" – which is what we aim to be!"
